ministration for its attempt to abandon the principle which was prevented only by the vigorous opposition of republican members of congress, aided by a few patriotic democrats.

"We reiterate our unqualified approval of the action taken in December, 1911, by the president and congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and prevent all discrimination of any kind between Americans, whether native-born or alien, and regardless of race, religion or previous political allegiance. We renew the pledge to observe this principle and to maintain the right of asylum which is neither to be surrendered nor restricted, and we unite in the cherished hope that the war which is now desolating the world may speedily end, with a complete and lasting restoration of brotherhood among the nations of the earth and the assurance of full equal rights, civil and religious, to all men in every land.

Protection of the Country.
"In order to maintain our peace and make certain the security of our people within our own borders the country must have not only adequate but thorough and complete national defense, ready for any emergency. We must have a sufficient and effective regular army, and a provision for ample reserves, already drilled and disciplined, who can be called at once to the colors when the hour of danger comes.
"We must have a navy so strong and so well-proportioned and equipped, so thoroughly ready and prepared, that no enemy can gain command of the sea and effect a landing in force on either our western or our eastern coasts. To secure these results we must have a coherent and continuous policy of national defense, which even in these perilous days the democratic party has utterly failed to develop, but which we promise to give to the country.

For Protective Tariff.
"The republican party stands now, always has, in the fullest sense for the policy of tariff protection to American industries and American labor and does not regard an anti-dumping provision as an adequate substitute. Such protection should be reasonable in amount but sufficient to protect adequately American industry and American labor and be so adjusted as to prevent undue actions by monopolies or trusts. It should, moreover, give special attention to securing the industrial independence of the United States, as in the case of dressuffs.
"Through wise tariff and industrial legislation our industries can be so organized that they will not be only a commercial but a powerful aid to national defense.

Underwood Act Failure.
"The underwood tariff act is a complete failure for every reason. Its administration imports have enornation—a husbandry which means development without waste; use without abuse.

"The civil service law has always been sustained by the republican party, and we renew our repeated declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The democratic party has created since March 4, 1912, 36,000 offices outside of the civil service law at an annual cost of $44,000,000 to the taxpayers of the country.

"We condemn the gross abuse and misuse of the law by the present democratic administration and pledge ourselves to a reorganization of this service along lines of efficiency and economy.

Territorial Officials.

"Reaffirming the attitude long maintained by the republican party, we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory should be bona fide residents of the territory in which their duties are to be performed.

Labor Laws.

"We pledge the republican party to the faithful enforcement of all federal laws passed for the protection of labor. We favor vocational education; the enactment and rigid enforcement of a federal child labor law; the enactment of a generous and comprehensive workmen's compensation law, within the commerce power of congress, and an accident compensation law covering all government employees. We favor the collection and collation under the direction of the department of labor of complete data relating to industrial hazards for the information of congress, to the end that such legislation may be adopted as may be calculated to secure the safety, conservation and protection of labor from the dangers incident to industry and transportation.

Suffrage State Question.

"The republican party, reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people, as a measure of justice to one-half the adult people of this country, favors the extension of the suffrage to women, but recognizes the right of each state to settle this question for itself.
"Such are our principles, such are our purposes and policies. No longer as we began. The times are dangerous and the future is fraught with peril. The great issues of the day have been confused by words and phrases. The American spirit, which made the country and saved the nation, has been smothered by those charged with the responsibility of power. We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native-born, to prove to the world that we are Americans in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and above all things, to keep the faith.

YACUI ATTACKS ARE REPORTED

DOUGLAS, ARIZ., June 8.—Reports that Yaqui Indians have been raiding ranches and small towns in the southern part of the Arizona district of Sonora were officially confirmed here today by J. R. Leveque, de facto consul. While the consul has received no list of those killed by the Indians, he said that official reports received in Agua Prieta state that the casualties have been numerous.
"The Indians are making their headquarters in Sierra Acuña, a range of mountains near the Sonora river, and are raiding the surrounding country for food and clothing.
"Americans arriving here today from Campus Sonora, said that while the Yaquis had been reported from the section described by the consul, it was stated that the Yaquis are accompanied by their families. This lends color to the belief that they are awaiting a favorable time to leave Mexico and enter the United States. The Yaquis who have crossed the border recently into Arizona. After crossing the border they are transformed into peaceful workmen.

Mining men say that Yaqui Indians are more numerous than the Mexicans and easier to handle. Hence all crossing the border are welcomed in the camps of southern Arizona.

COLONEL ENTERTAINS NEWSPAPER MEN

DOUGLAS, ARIZ., June 8.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt declared tonight that he had nothing whatever to add to the sentiments expressed by him earlier in the day in his message to former Senator William Jackson, of Maryland, in response to the suggestion that he appear before the republican national convention. He still maintains the position that nothing has developed in the situation at Chicago which requires his presence there and there were no indications tonight that he was making preparations for the trip.
The correspondents were received by Colonel Roosevelt as usual tonight at Sagamore Hill. He entertained them for some time with the story of how he shot his first bear and later invited them to visit his private den, where he displayed some of his cherished trophies of the hunt.

RUSSIANS SEIZE IMPORTANT FORT AND DRIVE THEIR FOES WESTWARD

Strong Offensive Against Germans on Eastern Front Began, Carried on With Considerable Success.

FRENCH CHECK FURTHER ADVANCE UPON VERDUN

Barrier Fire Stops Teutonic Invaders; British Win in Belgium; Hampshire Survivors Drift Ashore.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Having recaptured Lutsk, one of the triangle of Russian forts in Volhynia, from the Austrians, the Russians are pressing their adversaries westward. In numerous places not only the Russian but the Polish and the banks of the Ikwa and Stry rivers, but have crossed the streams and continued their offensive against their foes.

In the region of Kovel, midway between Lutsk and Brest-Litovsk, and in the vicinity of Rovno, southeast of the city, the Russians have begun actions against the Austro-Hungarians.

Likewise in Galicia there has been no let-up in the Russian attacks against the soldiers of the dual monarchy, from whom they have captured several towns and villages. In the Strypa river, heavily fortified positions. In the fighting the Russians have materially added to their prisoners and their stores of captured guns, machine guns and war materials.

Considerable activity has been shown by the Germans against the Russians on the northern sections of the Russian front, where the German guns have heavily bombarded the line along the Dvina to the lake region south of Dvinsk and thrown infantry attacks against the Russian positions south of Smolensk. In this latter region the Germans report the capture of the village of Kuznava, but Petrograd asserts that all their attacks were repulsed.

French Fire Curtain Effective.
With the capture of Fort Vaux northeast of Verdun, the Germans have attempted to advance their line against the French east and west of the Thiaucourt farm, south of Douaumont. The French barrier fire, however, has held them back. Northwest of Verdun around hill 304 and in the region of Chantreaux the artillery duels are still intense.

In several places the Germans have given up their offensive attacks and counter-attacks by the Germans and British around Hoge. Sapping operations between the Vimy ridge and La Bassée canal and near the Hohenzollern redoubt were to the advantage of the British, according to London.

The Italians to the south and southeast of Trent continue to keep the Austrians from further advances. South and southwest of Asiago attacks by the Austrians against Italian positions were entirely repulsed. According to Rome, while along the Lagarina valley concentrations of Austrians were dispersed by the Italian batteries.

Northwest of Trent in the Orler region the Italians have attacked and captured several villages. The Austrians were driven back to the Italian frontier.

Hampshire Survivors Found.
Although it had been believed that the entire ship's company of the cruiser Hampshire had perished when the vessel sank while carrying Earl Kitchener to Russia, twelve men were found drifting ashore on a raft.

All exports of coal to Greece have been prohibited. This probably is in line with announcements that the entente allies were considering restrictive measures against Greek commerce to prevent supplies reaching the enemy.

PARIS ADMITS LOSS OF VAUX
Paris, June 8.—The bombarded shell of old Fort Vaux has finally passed into possession of the Germans after a heroic resistance, in which the troops were cut off from food supplies for five days and from all communications for twenty-four hours. The French on withdrawing, however, still held the trenches sweeping around the western and southern slopes of the fortress.

The desperate defense made by Commander Fauriol and the small contingent left in the fort constitutes one of the most notable incidents of the Verdun campaign. The fort had been gradually pounded to pieces in a terrific seven-day bombardment while infantry rushes were repeatedly launched against the slopes of the fort, its ditches and outworks. Early yesterday morning General Raynal's forces were cut off for the first time from communicating with the French trenches 300 yards to the south. The means of transporting provisions and shells had previously been destroyed and the stock of food in the garrison was exhausted.

In the meantime the Germans brought up two fresh divisions and hurled them forward in five successive attacks which, in spite of the fearful losses caused by the French artillery, finally resulted in the Germans gaining the upper defenses of the fort and sweeping over its exhausted defenders. No word has been received from General Raynal since communication was first cut and nothing is known of his fate or that of his men.

The French lines now embrace the circle of inner forts and trenches lying south of Fort Vaux, the lines constituting a semi-circle.

SPOT WHERE HAMPSHIRE SANK IS LOCATED

Aberdeen, Scotland, June 8.—The cruiser Hampshire sank in deep water two miles from land, between Mafwick head and the Brough of Burray, on the west coast of the Orkney islands.

PRIMARY BATTLE IN CURRY COUNTY IS WAXING WARM

Many Deflections From Party Vote Are Predicted; Democratic Election to Be Held Tomorrow.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Clarks, N. M., June 8.—With the Curry county democratic primary for the choosing of county officers only two days off, the candidates who are running (or, it may be that the results will show that some of them were jockeying along at a snail's pace, but at the writing every mother's son thinks he is running), are lined up with toes to the mark, ready to be off at the crack of the pistol on Saturday morning, thus bringing to a close, at least so far as nominations are concerned, a campaign that has been unusually vigorously contested. It may be that somewhere on this mundane sphere the office seeks the man, but there has been little of that during the present campaign.

Ye Parable of Ye Candidate.
The majority of the candidates started after the office bright and early. In fact, office heard a knocking on his front door one morning while he was still taking his beauty sleep, and thinking that it might be an opportunity seeking to gain admittance he went and opened the door, and there stood Mr. Candidate. Office, in an attempt to escape, hiked out the back door, first slamming the front door shut in the face of Mr. Candidate. Candidate ran around the corner of the house and peeped office doing a marathon stunt across the field, started in after him, and ever since Office has been pursued relentlessly day and night.

No matter what the result of Saturday's primary is, it is predicted that there will be a good many deflections from the normal party vote in the election this fall. Just to what extent this will be carried cannot be foretold. But it is certain to happen, at least in two or three cases. And the republicans and socialists, who are watching the proceedings as speculators, are expecting to be on hand at the pie-cutting when election time comes around, hoping that each will at least be rewarded with a tiny piece. Any gratitudes extended in this direction will no doubt be highly appreciated by the last two named parties, because in the past the republicans have been notably lacking when it came to handing the pie out, and the socialists have only been able to get one small slice of the state representation in the fall of 1914, instead of apportioning their appetites, has made them more keen for a larger portion.

Legislative Situation.
L. C. Mersfelder, for state senator, has no opposition, but his nomination is, of course, certain.

For representative the voters will be asked to decide between Milton Reese and Lyman K. Shaw. Reese was formerly pastor of the Baptist church. He is a native of Curry county, and while Shaw was formerly a Santa Fe conductor but lost a foot in an accident in the local yards last spring, which has incapacitated him for duty in that line of work. It is generally conceded that Shaw will get the lion's share of the railroad vote, but the result throughout the county between the two men is merely a matter of conjecture.

L. M. Moore, incumbent, and S. D. Dean will have a fairly tight fight for the office of sheriff. Fred Fahlsholtz, who announced himself as a candidate, has withdrawn, and while T. S. Teeter, so far as is known, will have his name on the ticket, he is said to have decided to accept a full-time position as a candidate, but that his name was placed before the people by unauthorized parties who sought to weaken one of the other candidates by so doing.

Two Want Clerkships.
A. L. Awall, incumbent, and W. C. Zerwer are the only candidates for the county clerkship, and both men have waged an unrelenting campaign. Awall, elected county clerk in the fall of 1914, was ousted from office in the fall of 1914 because of certain alleged irregularities in connection with his office, and Zerwer, who was his deputy, succeeded him. Last April the state supreme court sustained Awall's appeal and ordered him reinstated, displacing Zerwer. The people will now be asked to decide between the two men and say which went to the top.

Many Minor Assessorships.
The candidates for assessors are: Ambrose E. By, incumbent; W. W. Mitchell; R. B. Anderson; H. M. Pike and G. C. Brock.

James M. Bickler has no opposition in the race for county superintendent of public instruction. One of the hottest fights, strange to say, has been for the office of probate judge. Usually when a politician goes out in quest of an office he sets his mark for something worth while, but the probate judges' office pays only a very small salary. However, there are three candidates, W. H. Doughton and R. D. Elder, now county commissioners, and C. V. Steed, and they have presented a campaign that has been more vigorous perhaps than the campaign for any other county office.

Bryan Unopposed.
For commissioners there are R. L. Hawk, R. M. Witherspoon, J. W. Manning, Gus M. Ryan, L. I. Phillips, Dr. J. D. Lynch and W. B. Shipley. Mr. Bryan is the only one of the sextet who has no opposition in his district, consequently he has been able to worry along without doing much campaigning.

In the race for county treasurer and the fact there is no telephone connection with the north end of the county, it probably will be some time Monday before the result of the primary is known.

Killed by Accidental Discharge.
Denver, June 8.—D. G. Collett, aged 28, was killed yesterday in the mountains of Jefferson county by the accidental discharge of a revolver.

TUMULTUOUSNESS IS FEATURE OF MOOSE SESSIONS

Chairman Robins Predicts Today Will Be Big Time of Convention; Delegates Are Restive.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Auditorium Hall, Chicago, June 8.—The progressive national convention met in two tumultuous sessions today and adjourned tonight until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The principal business of the day was the approval of a plan to confer on peace plans with the republican convention.
Throughout the day the leaders kept control over the delegations more by persuasion and by constant repetition of Chairman Robins' promise that the majority would divide any questions that arose than by any actual hold they had upon the delegations. The same determination to nominate Theodore Roosevelt was evident from the time the first delegation troops in shortly after 1 o'clock until the last went out shortly before 3 o'clock tonight.

Leaders made no effort to conceal their belief that a failure of the conference committee to agree or to find some possible basis for an agreement could result in but one thing—the immediate nomination of Colonel Roosevelt. In the words of Chairman Robins, "tomorrow probably will be a big day in the convention."
Only by many promises to place no obstacles in the way of the nomination of Roosevelt were the delegates content to adjourn and await results from the conference.

The convention spent about four hours in session ending with a profane and noisy gathering which receded mostly in singing and cheering. During the day the temporary organization was made permanent, and the platform of the resolutions
